- Inform the beach-going public about the presence of nesting shorebirds/seabirds and of the steps they can take to minimize impacts.
- To educate interested members of the beach-going public about the biology and life history of nesting shorebirds.
- When the birds present the opportunity, to show members of the beach-going public the birds' natural behavior at nesting sites, using optics when possible.
- Collect data on disturbance and causes, as well as counts as possible.
